ADVISORY

This bulletin is to inform the Upfitter community of upcoming changes General Motors will be implementing that will effect the sun visors provided in our vehicles. GM will no longer be providing the ship loose, sun visor air bag caution labels for the following incomplete vehicles:

2002 GMT 600

Effective immediately, heat applied ship loose labels will be provided for the remainder of production. Final stage manufacturers and upfitters will need to obtain heat application equipment for attaching these permanently affixed labels.

2003 M/L Van

At start of production, ship loose labels will no longer be provided. If the stock visor is re-trimmed, the upfitter will be responsible for supplying and attaching a permanently affixed label.

2003 GMT 610

At start of production, ship loose labels will no longer be provided. If the stock visor is re-trimmed, the upfitter will be responsible for supplying and attaching a permanently affixed label.

Final stage manufacturers and upfitters are responsible for providing a label conforming to MVSS 208 that is permanently affixed to the sun visor at each outboard seating position equipped with inflatable restraints. Effective with 2003 model year, General Motors will no longer ship pressure-sensitive air bag caution labels with incomplete vehicles. Final stage manufacturers and upfitters should obtain labels and heat application equipment suitable for their sun visor materials from their label or sun visor suppliers.

There are two options for the permanently affixed sun visor air bag caution label.

Part # 15006351 is for vehicles without an air bag suppression switch and part # 15006353 is for vehicles with an air bag suppression switch.

A list of sources for labels and heat application equipment is included on the next page.
